

Craig Norton

High-tech team-oriented music and media residencies and workshops led by an award-winning artist. Students learn by experience with hands-on projects.

Craig Norton offers a selection of music and media learning experiences that are fun and engaging. His photo programs provide students with a creative outlet that allows them to connect to school subjects with high tech projects. He is trained by The Kennedy Center/VSA for students with disabilities. Craig is a professional drum circle facilitator and shares the power of rhythm in schools. He gives students the chance to connect, be musical and practice many life skills.

"Thank you again for being part of our department professional development day. You inspired many of the staff members. I received a lot of great feedback! The staff was so happy to do something hands on and interactive. I look forward to working with you more in the future."

Leslie - Director of Fine and Performing Arts, Hamden Public Schools
